

4 More Change

Key Concepts

Development Patterns

- Very limited expansion of existing community boundaries
- Infill within downtowns and mixed neighborhoods

The pictures from left to right represent an increasing scale of density/intensity. Images on the right are likely only to occur in urban areas like Modesto.

Complementary Uses

- Compact development in downtowns and in new traditional neighborhoods
- Greater mix of housing options
- Services, employment and housing in close proximity

The pictures from left to right represent an increasing scale of density/intensity. Images on the right are likely only to occur in urban areas like Modesto.

Development Density

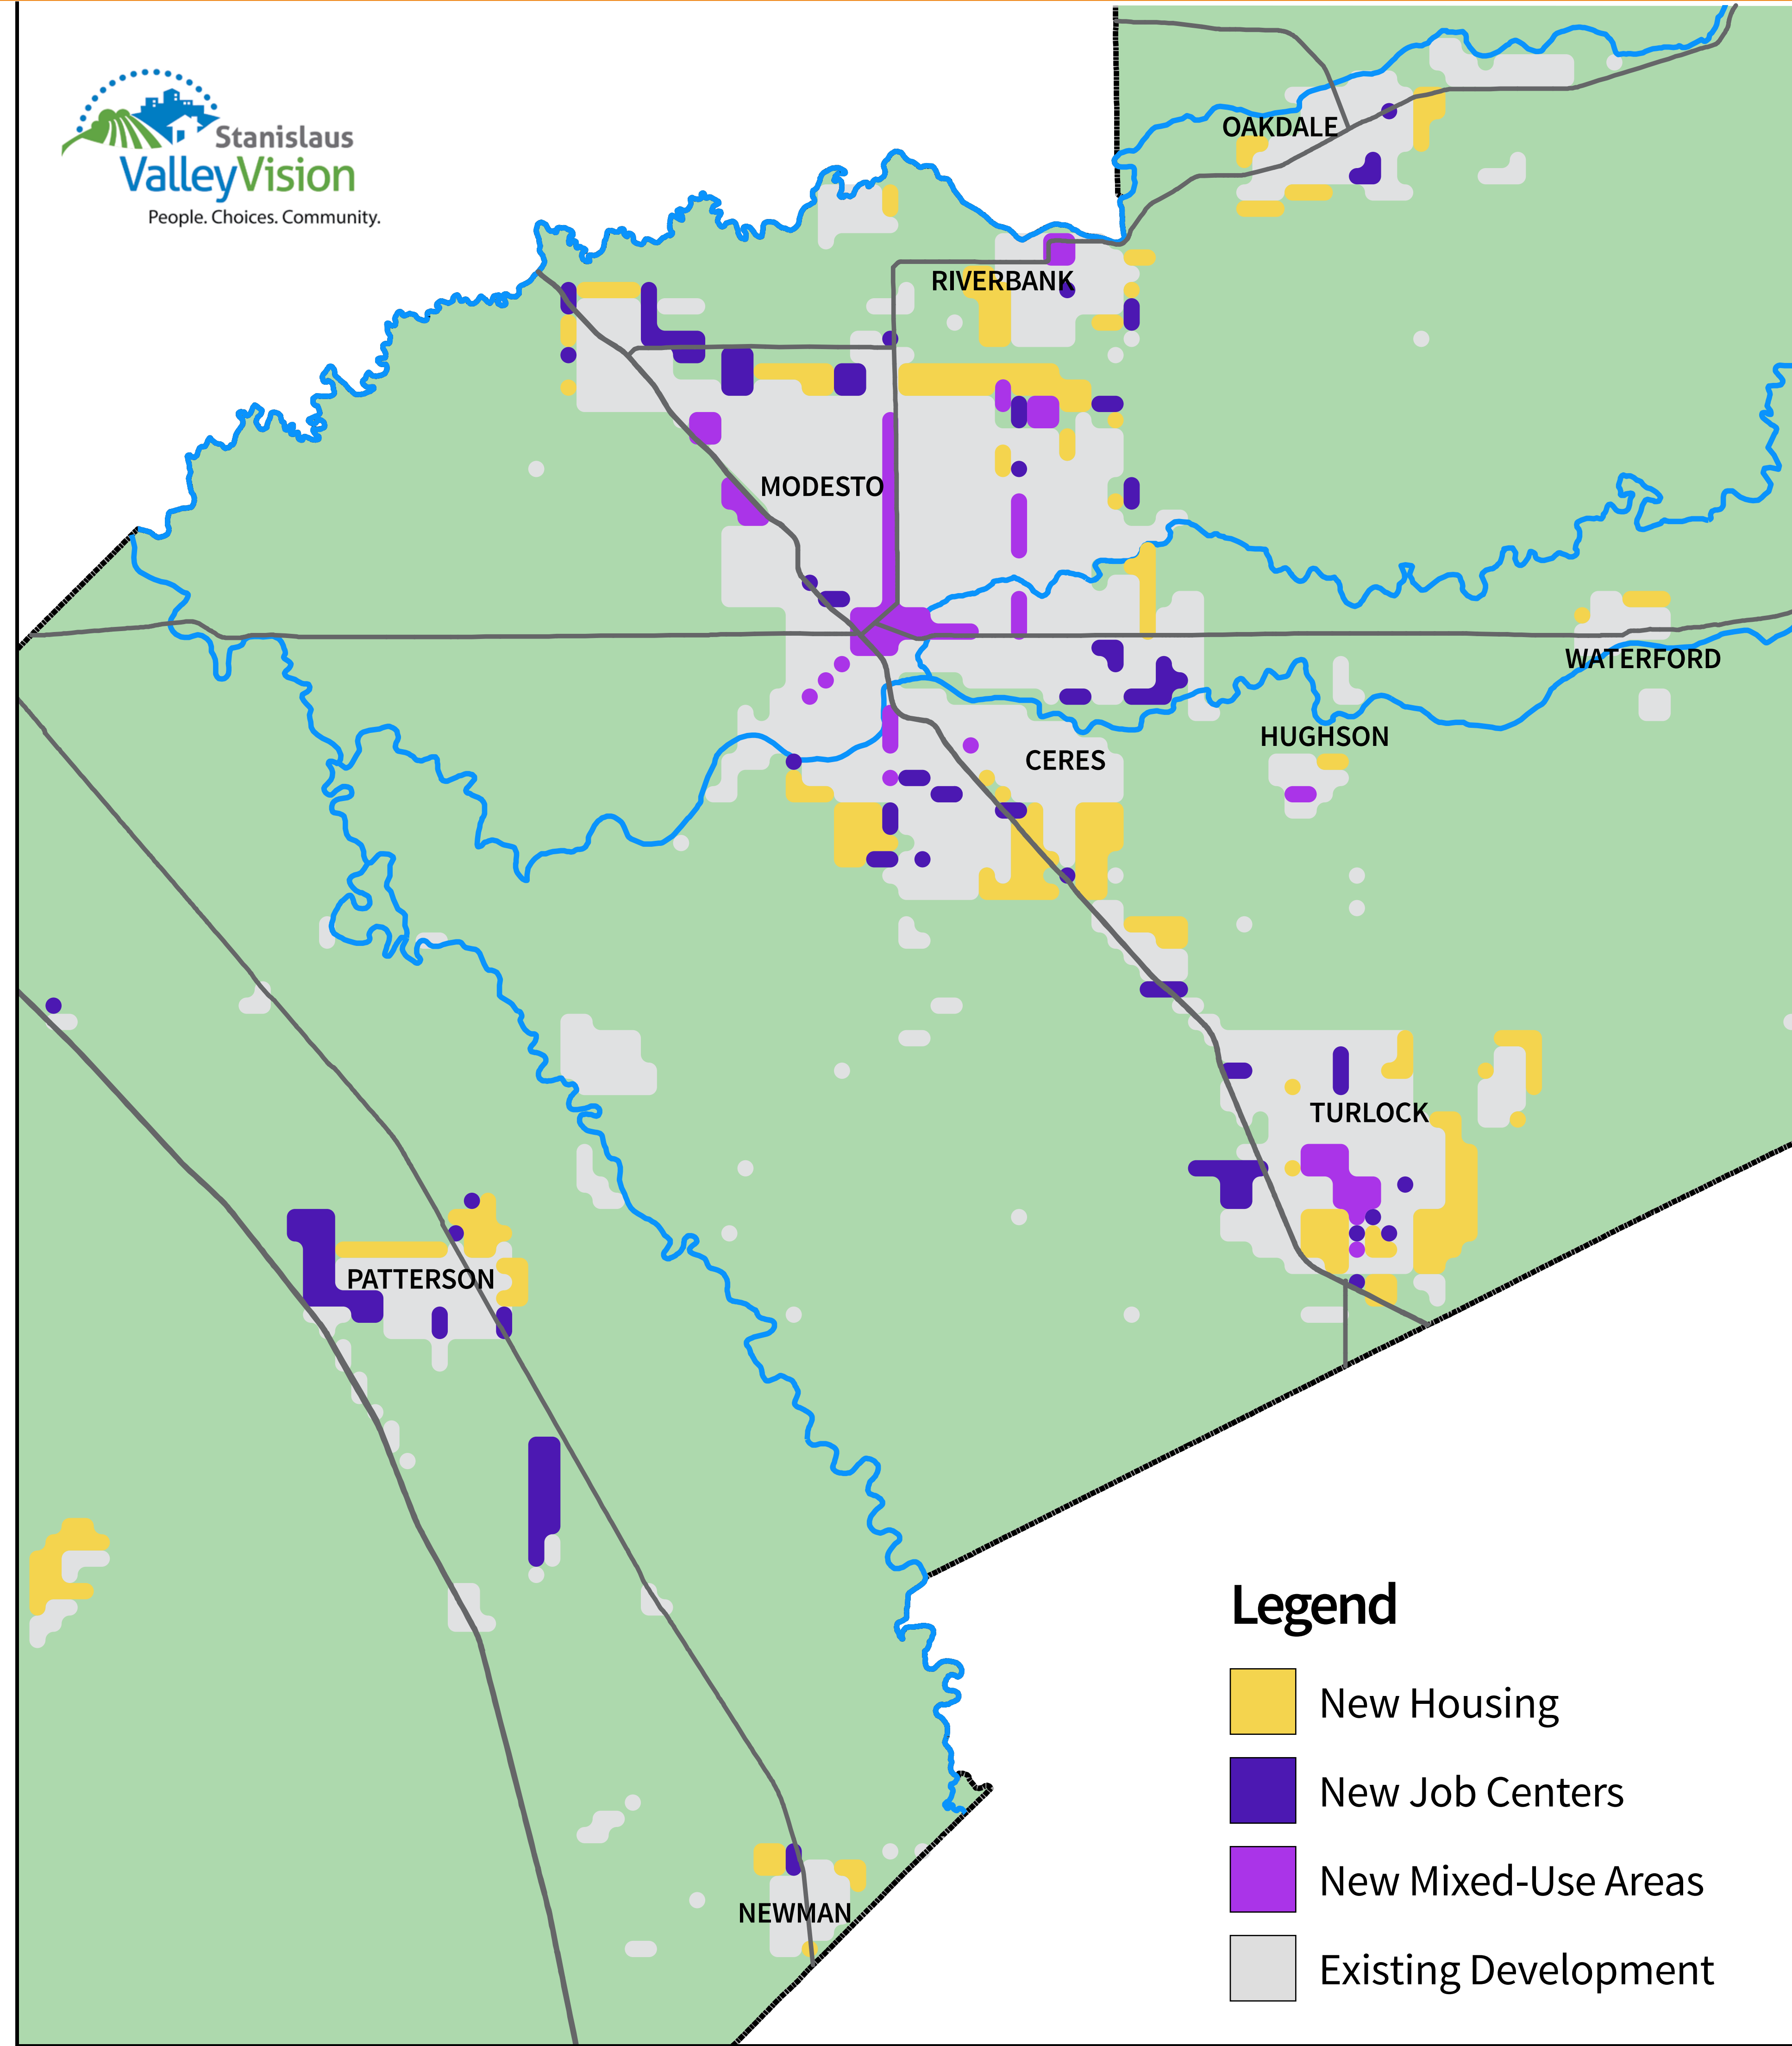

- Greater percentage of multifamily, mixed-use housing, and duplex/townhomes as new housing stock.
- Mix of smaller lot single-family and multifamily housing in new neighborhoods
- Limited lower-density, large-lot single-family development
- Development occurs at the upper end of allowed general plan densities

The pictures from left to right represent an increasing scale of density/intensity. Images on the right are likely only to occur in urban areas like Modesto.

Transit / Transportation Corridors

- Increased availability of alternative modes of travel

Transportation Investment

